The 27th IBFH 2018 will open once again the doors of the Book's Professional Hall, located within the fairground—the fortress of San Carlos de La Cabaña—, organized by the Latin American Literary Agency and aimed at all the professionals. The Book's Professional Hall works as a meeting point for negotiations related to copyrights, the establishment of agreements, deals, and the manifestation of intentions among publishing houses, authors, editors, distributors, booksellers, agents, or other accredited professionals attending the event; and for the realization of panel discussions, round tables, and conferences linked to the publishing industry.

This space is technologically equipped for accessing to the Internet, email, and documents reproduction. The work contacts can be arranged in advance through the telephone numbers and the email addresses showed in this call for entries. The Hall Coordinator will be in charge of making the necessary liaisons among the entities or professionals interested in meeting and organizing the work sessions. These sessions can be also arranged during the course of the Book Fair in the Professional Hall.

The access to the services offered in the Professional Hall requires a specific accreditation, which must be requested through the same addresses and telephone numbers contained in this document. In the case of Professionals and Exhibitors, it must be requested at the moment of applying for the accreditation before the Fair Organizing Committee. Nevertheless, the events can be accessed carrying the credentials for Professional, Exhibitor, or Guest.
